N. M. BOOTH DEAD.

Oldest Tel-graph r in United States.

Built First Telegraph Line From Louisville to Owensboro

BORN IN JEFFERSON COUNTY.

Evansville, Ind., April 10.—Norbome M. Booth, aged 86 years, said to be the oldest telegrapher in the United States, died at his home at 405 Chandler avenue Friday noon. In the language of the "boys," who he instructed in the telegraph world, he answered "30," the operator's signal signifying the end.

Mr. Booth's end was peaceful, following weeks of illness. In his declining days his eyesight was affected, yet he compiled a book of memoirs which he treasured highly.

Mr. Booth was born in Louisville, Ky., and became a telegrapher there in 1849. He floated on the Ohio for a time, when he formed a stock company and built a telegraph line from Louisville, via Owensboro and Evansville, to Shawneetown, Ill. He had his main office on Water street, and saw the steamboat business in its height. His line was practically forced out of business by the Western Union company in 1871, when he gave up his private venture and took the place of manager of the Western Union office here. This position he held until 1884, when he reached the age of 62 years and retired.

Mr. Booth was a man of forceful character, virile mentally and energetic in pushing business. He was highly regarded by the Western Union officials and hundreds of men in the profession and other walks of life.

Mr. Booth was married in 1855 to Miss Mary Porter of Bardonia, Ky. She survives him with the following children: Norbome M., of the Western Union office here; William and Galt Booth, Mrs. Fannie Covert of Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Nannie Telger of Kansas City, Mo.; and Misses Louise and Kate Booth of Evansville.

News of his death reached the telegraph world to all parts of the country yesterday and brought expressions of regret from the "boys" everywhere at the keys.

Funeral services for the deceased were held Monday morning at 10 o'clock from the late residence, Rev. W. Reid Cross of St. Paul's Episcopal church, officiating.

COMMERCIAL

CONVENTION.

Twenty-eight counties have already responded to the call sent out for a commercial convention to be held in Louisville April 23, and additional ones are sending in their appointments daily. More than a hundred delegates have been named, and it is certain that the attendance will be large. Commercial bodies and county judges are making the appointments.

Gov. Willson has accepted an invitation to be present and speak, and others on the program are Attorney General James Breathitt and Senator Thomas A. Combs, of Lexington, who will talk of tax reform; J. W. Porter, of Lexington, who subject is the State Development Association; Prof. J. W. McConathy, of Louisville, who will speak of county museum clubs; J. B. Atkinson, of Earlinton, who is to speak on forestry; and Dr. J. N. McCormack, of Bowling Green, who will discuss the State health.

There will be a morning and an afternoon session at the Seilbach and a banquet in the evening, tendered to the delegates by the Louisville Commercial Club, under whose auspices the convention is being arranged. Each delegate will make a short talk on the needs and resources of his county.

Judge Moorman has appointed the following delegates from this county: Hon. John P. Haswell, Jr., Roy E. Moorman, of Hardinsburg, and Jno. D. Babagan, of Cloverport.

Hancock And Meade Assessments.

Frankfort, Ky., April 10.—The state board of equalization today took final action to the assessments of property in the counties of Hancock and Meade. If ordered a raise of two per cent. on farm land and personally of Hancock and a raise of five per cent. on similar property of Meade.

SINGING MOUSE AT STEPHENSPORT.

Attracting Attention of Breckenridge County People.

OWNED BY JUDGE JOHN ADAIR.

"Hoop La! Hoop La! Hear-a de Singing Mouse? Ten cents! One Dime!"

The above announcement may very soon be placed upon the bill boards advertising a drawing card for Louisville's "White City" or Cincinnati's "Chester" park, also be the means of drawing in barrels of newly coined dimes for Judge Adair of the Stephenson Two States Bank, who is the sole owner of the big show. This Adair singing mouse bids fair to place beyond the gate the educated floss imported last year from Germany and take precedence above every creaking thing under the sun as a novel, park and side show feature. This little singing mouse which has been christened "Adair" sings and chirps out little notes much like birds of the air. At the back of its master, "Adair" will put forth as sweet a lullaby as a mother ever sang to her babe. Classics are rendered in "Adair's" own native style but rag-time is barred from his repertoire. Judge Adair however, frequently has trouble in securing a performance. The little mouse displays his talent better and more easily after nibbling on small bits of cheese. Some times he retires to his hole and remains for an hour or more; then darts back into his court and renders a selection. He performs better when only a few auditors are about and stillness prevails.

"Adair" was discovered in Hancock county by Judge Adair at the home of a rural relative. Wonderful stories were told of the mouse's peculiar ability—so wonderful indeed that Judge Adair announced that he believed in the creed of folks living West of the Mississippi and that he must be shown before he would believe. The little mouse was brought forth and tending he did, Judge says, was really so wonderful that he became captivated, gathered it up and fetched it to Stephenson, gave one public performance in his bank to a group of friends and since then he has been besieged with hungry sight-seers. This mouse is on exhibition and may be seen for the mere asking. "Adair" is of normal size and does not differ in any way from the ordinary mouse save his vocal abilities.

Judge Adair gives the little fellow the closest attention possible, and in him Judge believes he has a money-making proposition. So soon as the newspaper agents from all the shows and amusement parks in the country will no doubt be on the Judge's trail seeking public performance rights.

STEPHENSPORT.

That singing mouse! Have you heard it?

Schopp's big clearance sale is proving a big success. Buyers are flocking in from all parts and taking home stacks of goods. Mr. Schopp says it pays to advertise.

Mrs. G. W. Payne's display of new spring millinery is right in line with all the best and latest things in spring hats. Her opening Thursday, April 15, will show her line in all its beauty.

A full new stock of spring dry goods at G. W. Payne's.

G. W. Payne pays highest market price for butter, eggs and chickens.

Dr. Nevitt went to Ekron Saturday.

Capt. Merritt launched a new launch over at Ekron Saturday.

That singing mouse is the wonder of the age.

D. C. Heron of Irvington, was here Saturday representing a tobacco house.

Mrs. Payne will exchange hats for butter, eggs and chickens.

A beautiful line of spring dress goods at G. W. Payne's.

Mrs. G. W. Payne has displayed beautiful taste in her purchases of spring millinery. Her selections are the new set things in untrimmed and odd shaped hats, beautiful Flowers, Fruits and Foliage, Wings, Quills and fancy Feather Novelties. Her prices are not high, but very reasonable.

Wanted—A good speller.—Adair.

RESIDENCE BURNED.

Mrs. Isabelle Brown who lives on the Brandenburg and Flint Island road near Rhodella, lost her residence and all her household goods by fire last Friday night. Loss $800, fully covered by insurance in the Farmers Mutual Insurance Company.

COMING DIRECT TO CLOVERPORT

A Mandate Hand'd Down From Monongahela Consolidated Coal & Coke Co.

CLOVERPORT TO BE TERMINAL

In the building of the new railroad from Madisonville and Hartford to make the connections with the branch about a mile above Fordville, it was first decided to use the branch route to Irvington. Of course this route was more suitable for the Henderson Route, as it had a track already laid, but it seems that the Henderson Route and the Madisonville Route has but little say. A high official of the Consolidated Coal & Coke Co., said to a News representative. "This combine I represent owns every acre of coal land in Kentucky. Our nearest point for distribution on the Madisonville & Hartford Line will be Cloverport, as it has deep water all the year round. This coal field is now open and will be controlled by a Syndicate. It is the interest of all our people to have the road to come through over the old Victoria route to Cloverport, for we can get deep water navigation all the year round. Our coal will go direct to the South, as the Combine owns every boat in the line, and will load our steamers at Cloverport, employing over 200 men to look after our interest."

"The Sprague on her last trip had a special trip. She had 58 barges and covered six acres, 1,400,000 bushels of coal, and if placed in cars holding 50 tons each would have taken 1,300 cars to hold it. And if placed on a track of 25 cars to a train and 50 tons to a car it would take 32 locomotives to haul the goods. So you see by coming direct to Cloverport over the old route we can save over 10 miles—and as the Combine owns this territory, you see we are going to pull to our own interest."

BANKER PARRISH GETS FIVE YEARS

Jury Finds Owensboro Banker Guilty and Sentences Him to Five Years in the Penitentiary.

The second trial of James H. Parrish, the Owensboro banker, came to a close Thursday morning at Hawesville, when the jury returned a verdict of guilty after deliberating two hours and thirty minutes. The trial lasted ten days. Parrish was charged with the charge of receiving deposits at his bank when he knew it was insolvent. The case was hard fought. Parrish was surrounded by his wife, brothers and sisters when the jury reported and he seemed the least concerned of all when the verdict was read. A motion was promptly made for a new trial and special judge Kelley announced that he would hear the arguments later. Parrish is now in jail at Hawesville.

THE HERNDON SALE.

A big crowd attended Jesse M. Herndon's sale near Irvington last Monday. Everything brought good prices with the exception of the cattle. The bidding was not spirited or lively, and with all of Dave Herndon's enthusiasm and loud talking he couldn't get any bidders to move up. They were finally knocked off to Ben Clarkson at $200 for 12 head. Farm implements brought good prices. Corn sold at 80 cents; sheep at $8.50 to $8.75 a head, lambs included; horses, mules and hogs the bidding was lively and prices soared upward. The sale all round was a success, and very satisfactory to Mr. Herndon. Mr. Herndon certainly had a nice home and farm, well kept and improved with many comforts who seldom see about farms. Mr. Herndon will move to Irvington for the present. Mr. King who bought the farm is well pleased with his purchase and will move in about May 1.

Notice.

All members of the Methodist church are requested to be present at the opening service of the revival next Sunday morning.

Mrs. Bettie Calhoun expects to leave in a few days for Owensboro for an indefinite visit to relatives.

Mr. Jonas Lyons, the restaurant proprietor and farmer combined, reports that he planted sixty acres of corn last week. This is the first corn planting we have heard of in this country this spring.

A new spring dress of fresh paint is being given the front of the store rooms occupied by K. M. Jolly.

Mr. Willie Penick, of Custer, passed through town last Monday morning enroute to Martinsville, Ind., to drink the health giving waters for several weeks.

Mrs. Rod Foote has returned from Louisville, where she was called to see her sister, Mrs. T. E. Ditto, who is very ill.

The remains of Mrs. Arthur Rapp (nee Lucile Wagner) arrived here Monday morning from St. Louis, Mo., where she has been ill for a few weeks at her home. The interment was in the Washington family grave yard on Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. Mrs. Rapp has visited here for the past several years, her numerous friends and relatives. She was quite a popular and attractive young lady and she has a host of friends left to mourn her loss. Those that accompanied the remains from St. Louis were: Mr. Arthur Rapp, Mr. and Mrs. Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. Rapp and Mr. and Mrs. Race, of Peoria, Illinois.

The Ladies Aid of the Methodist church met with Mrs. W. J. Piggott on last Friday afternoon. Mrs. L. H. Jolly furnished the music for the afternoon, which was enjoyed by all. Mrs. H. H. Kemper and Mrs. Chamberlain read very entertainingly, after which the hostess served a dainty luncheon.

Mrs. L. H. Jolly entertained her Sunday school class, composed of the kinder garden pupils, of the Methodist school, on last Monday afternoon. All report having a good time and praising Mrs. Jolly as being a most charming hostess.

Quite a large crowd attended the sale of J. M. Herndon on his farm near here on Monday.

H. B. Hend made a trip to Louisville Thursday.

Mr. T. S. Pool has moved to Beatyville, Indiana, where he will make his future home. Mrs. Pool and children will follow later, after a visit to relatives at Hardinsburg.

Last Friday and Saturday will long be remembered by those who attended the military openings of Lyon's Dry Goods Co., conducted by Miss Nannie Childs and Miss Laura Hale, adjoining R. M. Jolly's store. The large and pretty display of pattern hats and ready-to-wear hats were indeed attractive and inviting.

On Tuesday afternoon of last week Mrs. H. H. Kemper entertained in a very pleasing manner, in honor of her charming guest, Mrs. M. M. Bardwell. The pretty and attractive home was decorated in evergreens, potted plants and cut flowers. "Dominoes Whist" was played progressively and just after that Mrs. Bardwell honored us with a number of selections of her voice, which was greatly enjoyed by all. Delightful refreshments, in the way of ices, were served. Those who accepted Mrs. Kemper's hospitality were: Mesdames L. B. Moremen, C. L. Chamberlain, L. H. Jolly, W. J. Piggott, E. W. Graves and E. H. Jolly; Misses Ellen Mumford, Nellie Smith, Eva and Mabel McClinton, Wills Drury, Mary Peyton and Evelyn Herndon.

The Musical

The Musical given under the auspices of the Ladies Aid of the Baptist church Saturday evening was quite a success both socially and financially. While standing room was not sold, yet there was quite a nice house and what was lacking in number was compensated in quality; there being in the audience music lovers from this and adjoining communities.

The music rendered by Mr. Hazzard was very high-class and highly appreciated. Mrs. Bardwell's solos were most enjoyable; not often are we favored with such artistic skill as her singing portrayed. The anthems rendered by the choir were high-class and thoroughly appreciated, especially the bass solo by Mr. Murray and the tenor solo by Mr. Heron.

Miss Nannie Childs would like for you to call and see her new spring hats.

"Oh! they are exquisite," say those who have taken a look at Miss Nannie Childs' display of new spring hats.

The cut-rate drugstore for low prices on drugs.

Miss Laura Hale has a beautiful display of spring millinery at her new stand next door to R. M. Jolly.

FISCAL COURT NOTES.

The Fiscal Court met Tuesday, April 6, all the members present, for a four day session, Squire Drury being absent the last two days.

The report filed by J. V. St. Clair, supervisor of roads and bridges, recommends replacing, repairing, painting and erecting bridges in the county to the estimated cost of $10,007. The bridges recommended are on Sinking Creek near Webster, at a cost of $2,000, and one at Shot Pouch, $400. The bridge at Glendale, about rotted down, is recommended as not needed.

A levy of 15 cents on the $1.00 and a poll tax of $1.00 was made for school purposes, as recommended by the Board of Education. The people within Cloverport Graded School District, are exempt from this tax, they already taxing themselves in excess of this amount for school purposes.

Columbus was elected Poor House Keeper for a term of two years.

Mike Miller was elected Road Supervisor for two years, at a $600 salary. He is directed to be in his office on Saturdays and Mondays.

Dr. J. C. Sutton was continued pauper and jail physician for two years.

Lee Walls was continued pauper Commissioner for two years.

Paul Compton was re-elected Commissioner and receiver for the county for two years.

M. H. Beard was re-elected Commissioner of the railroad tax district.

Dr. John E. Kincheloe was elected County Health Officer at a salary of $75 per year.

John Hoben was elected a member of the County Board of Health.

The salaries of all county officers were made the same as last year, and payable quarterly.

It was decided to build no bridge at Harbawks Mill this year, Grayson county being unwilling to build her half.

Only $2.48 was asked for books for indigent school children.

The tax levy, in addition to that made for school purposes was fixed at: For general expense fund 7c on $100 For sinking fund 5c on $100 For pauper fund 6c on $100

The poll tax was continued at $1.50. The 25c tax on the $100 for roads and bridges is decided as follows: 15c for bridges and 10c for roads.

W. E. Rhodes was allowed $750 for right of way for road through his farm besides $100 paid him by the petitioners.

Claims for sheep killed and injured by dogs were allowed amounting to $233.50. (There is a great difference between the values of sheep at assessing time in the fall and at the time they are assessed after being killed or hurt by dogs. The hurt and killed ones are much more valuable.)

Pool Question Undecided.

The Burlew Tobacco Society held a short session at Winchester, Ky., last Tuesday and adjourned until June. Their sessions were held in secret, and little except routine business was transacted. The affairs pertaining to winding up the affairs of the 1908 and 1907 seasons engaged their attention most of the time. If a large per cent. of the crop is not pooled no effort will be made to control it. The pledge adopted some time ago will be modified somewhat to make its provisions somewhat less drastic, but nothing of the kind was done at this meeting.

GASOLINE BOAT

CRAZE ON.

Interesting Boat News--Yachts And Launches Being Equipped For Service And Pleasure.

SEVERAL FOLKS GETTING BOATS

The Gasoline boat Craze has struck Cloverport this Spring and struck it big.

No more will Mr. Turtle be allowed to take his quiet nap and the festive catfish will have to seek the deep waters, for the wheels of the new craft that grace the boom of the Ohio from this port will keep the water churned into a foam. The Cloverport Foundry & Machine Co. is now equipping a new dry dock to be installed at the lower wharf, which will be ample to dry dock any of the Gasoline Craft for repair.

Allen Pierce will have a new boat this season. The craft will be 25 feet long and will be equipped with an 8 H.P. engine. The hull is now ready for the engine and in a few weeks she will be placed in commission.

o o o

P. D. Plank has a new 16 ft. hull, built in Cincinnati and will have a 3 H. P. engine. She will be ready for the water in a few days.

o o o

Lafe Behen is building him a new hull and will have a 6 H. P. engine on his new craft. He too, like the rest, is pushing his boat along so as to have her ready for the season's first run.

o o o

Ira Behen will content himself with his old hull but will have a new engine in his boat. She will be faster.

o o o

Dave Phelps will not only run his old boat but is going to build a 30 ft. hull and will push her along with an 18 H. P. engine. She will be one of the fastest crafts in port. Both of his other boats are being over-hauled and will be in good fix for the season.

o o o

Fred Fraize is having the "Dart" put in good repair and she is about ready to take the water again.

o o o

Dr. Lightfoot is having his boat placed in repairs. Late last season she was installed with a new engine and she will be in splendid fix for this season.

o o o

The "Eva", Capt. Marion Weatherholt in command, will be placed in commission this week. She has been entirely over-hauled and will start her hot for the boys that try to run past her.

o o o

Jesse Keys will have a 20 ft. launch. She will be equipped with a 3 H. P. engine and will soon be completed.

o o o

Wick DeHaven will buy a 20 ft. steel hull and equip her for speed. She will be ready for the Spring season.

o o o

Elmer Noble has a 3 H. P. engine in his boat, "Red Wing."

o o o

The Cloverport Foundry & Machine Shop will equip the "Blue Wing," "Doctor" and "Jane" with new engines. The hulls are now in Clover creek. They will be for sale.

o o o

Dr. Lightfoot, Fred Fraize and Will Pate will equip the pretty new model hull, now lying in the creek, with a 32 H. P. engine. She is 30 ft. long and when equipped will be expected to go some.

o o o

The "Florence" is a new water craft that is being equipped here. She is 10-12 ft. wide, 56 ft. long and was built by the Pettit Bros., of Rome. She is having a 25 H. P. engine installed on her at the ship yard. She will be used for towing.

o o o

Capt. T. F. Sawyer has had the "Red Hen", the craft he traded for last fall, now placed in good shape. A new coat paint will soon be put on and she will be ready for active business. Capt. Sawyer will also do some boat building this year.

o o o

Don't fish have a time a day. Why not organize a Boat Club.

The advent of the gasoline engine has opened a wide field of pleasure and business. In the upper bends between here and Louisville the deliver man runs his nets in a gasoline craft and the farmer takes his produce to town in one.

They say Bill Pate has gone crazy on gasoline boats. When a test jury was selected, with Dr. Lightfoot, Fred Fraize, Ira and Lafe Behen, Allen Pierce, Dave Phelps and Marion Weatherholt to try him. The Judge ordered them all confined for the same offense.

SARDOU AND THE SPIRIT.

The Dramatist Wrote and Drew Pictures While "Under Control."

Before he made his reputation by writing plays Victorien Sardou, the French dramatist, who was deeply interested in spiritualism, had a remarkable experience in taking dictation. He had been interested in occult phenomena, and by chance he came into communication with a spirit personality who signed himself "Bernard Palissy." Mr. Sardou told the story of his experiments in an article entitled "Only the Blindly Ignorant Scott" in the Dollmagasin. He said:

"One day in my room with two friends I thought I would make the little table where we had taken our coffee run about the room, as I had often done when alone. Without saying anything I put my hand on the table, but it would not budge. I tried in vain all the time they were there to make it move, but to no avail. As soon as they were gone I could make it do what I pleased, even jump clear off the floor. So I took up my pencil and asked, 'But why would you not make the table move while my friends were here?' The hand which held the pencil wrote, 'They were too stupid.'"

Shortly after this I was sitting by my table one day idling, dreaming, not making any effort to do anything in particular. All of a sudden my hand began to work on the paper before me with a rapidity and precision which astonished me. And it kept this up for close to two hours. The result was a fantastic piece of work drawn in delicate lines, fine almost as a spider's web, and at the bottom a signature—'Bernard Palissy.' 'What is it?' I asked.

"And my automatic hand wrote, 'The house of Swedenborg, on the planet Jupiter.' This was considered as most curious by all my friends, who knew that personally I had no aptitude for drawing. A plate was prepared, and I was given an etching tool. The result, in the same order of design, was a more elaborate piece of work, this time certainly combined out of all sorts of musical terms, clefs, notes, bars, and so on, and the whole was designated as the house of Mozart, also on Jupiter, and the whole was again signed 'Palissy.' In fact, Bernard Palissy became my almost constant companion from this on, like my second self.

THE "GHOST" LOG.

A Test by Which May Be Discerned the Digital Effluvia.

There is an experiment, first made by Dr. J. Maxwell, advocate general at the court of appeals in Paris, a distinguished magistrate and physician, which may be repeated in any drawing room.

Place a screen covered with a dark colored cloth in front of a window so that the light falls full upon it. Between the window and the screen put the subject of your experiment. Let him hold his hands, palms toward the breast, finger tips touching, in such a position that they are projected against the dark background of the screen. Then bid him slowly separate his hands, keeping the fingers extended widely. Standing behind him you will observe a sort of bluish gray cloud which seems to unite one hand to the other. Eight people out of ten will see this, says Victor Thompson in Hampton's Magazine. In 200 tests made by Dr. Maxwell personally 250 folk of one sex and the other discerned the digital effluvia; about 5 per cent saw it tinged a decided blue, two saw it yellow in tone, and in one instance the spectator saw it of a reddish hue. The experiment succeeds best in a warm room. Cool and damp work against it. The duration of durability is four or five seconds.

Did He Mean to Be Funny?

The editor of a newspaper whose policy it is to print many letters from correspondents in neighboring towns recently received such a communication from his representative in one place as to which he was not quite sure. He could not decide whether the correspondent was unconsciously humorous or whether he was endeavoring to comply with the standing instructions of the paper to "always be on the lookout for any little touch of humor that may brighten up our columns." The item read as follows: "Mr. Harry Spinks, the well known butcher of this place, has been losing flesh rapidly of late."—Lippincott's.

The Bayonet.

The bayonet was due to the fortunate inspiration of a Basque soldier, who, when he and his regiment, having expended their ammunition, were driven to bay on a mountain ridge near Bayonne, suggested that they should fix the long knives with which they were armed into the musket barrels and charge the enemy. This advice, which was followed with complete success, was the means of introducing the weapon to the notice of military Europe.

Rammed by a Shark. The strangest shark story which ever came to the writer's ears was of a shark that charged a steamer. This was in Queen Charlotte's sound, and an account of the incident appeared in a Vancouver paper. The captain of the steamer, which was a small craft of only fifty tons or so, saw the shark on the surface on the port bow and could not resist the temptation of taking a shot at it with his rifle. He hit the shark, whereupon the monster, said to have been fully twenty feet in length, deliberately charged the steamer. The boat wavered from stem to stern, and the captain said afterward that it was like striking a rock. After this display of temper Master Shark had had enough of it and sank out of sight.—F. C. Bridges in Chambers' Journal.

Words To Freeze The Soul.

"Your son has Consumption. His case is hopeless." These startling words were spoken to Geo. R. Elevens, a leading merchant of Springfield, N. C. by two expert doctors—one a lung specialist. Then was shown the wonderful power of Dr. King's New Discovery. "After three weeks use," writes Mr. Elevens, "he was as well as ever, I would not take all the money in the world for what it did for my boy." Invaluable for coughs and colds, it is the safest, surest cure of desperate lung diseases on earth. 60c. and $1.00. Guarantees satisfaction. Trial bottle free. Severs Drug Store.

Newer Than Post Cards.

The sadly overworked picture postal has blossomed out in a new guise which is really worth while.

It is made of fine white card of excellent quality, and instead of the usual picture on the back there is a selected quotation or motto beautifully printed and hand illuminated. The postals are attractive enough to be given the dignity of a frame and would often solve the problem of a Valentine gift, which represents small money value.

The conventional flower borders on some of the cards are exquisitely tinted, and the quotations chosen cover a large variety of subjects.

Up Before The Bar.

N. H. Brown, an attorney, of Pittsfield, Vt., writes: "We have used Dr. King's New Life Pills for years and find them such a good family medicine we wouldn't be without them." For chills, constipation, biliousness or sick headache try Dr. King's New Life Pills. Severs Drug Store.

An Odd Test.

One clever housekeeper has learned to outfit a milkman whom she suspected of diluting his stock of milk. She kept in her kitchen a fine steel knitting needle, which was always in a high degree of polish.

As soon as the milk came into the house she stuck the needle lightly into the can and drew it out in an upright position. If no drop adhered to the needle it was genuine. If it had a talk on watered milk that caused him to be careful how he dilled with the pump on his next visit.

It is made of fine white card a little water in milk not a drop of it will adhere to a needle so used.

Children especially like Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup as it tastes nearly as good as maple sugar. It not only heals irritation and allays inflammation, thereby stopping the cough, but it also moves the bowels gently and in that way drives the cold from the system. It contains no opiates. Sold by All Druggists.

CLOVERPORT, KY., WEDNESDAY, APRIL 14, 1909

What are you worth today? Not in money, but in brains, heart, purpose, character? Tell yourself the truth about yourself.

—George H. Hepworth.

THINK OF IT.

Think of it, more than 99 per cent of American farmers ignoring the American Society of Equity, that has given positive proof of the merits of its teaching on scientific marketing. Can not farmers see that the more their knowledge in producing increases, the more they will stand in need of knowledge of how to market what is produced? What would be the result if scientific farming caused the production, each year, of twice as much wheat, corn, cotton, tobacco, etc., as the home and foreign markets could take? Poverty and misery would be the result. Prevent such results by learning crop regulation and controlled marketing.—Tobacco Tidings.

We hear most every body saying a good word for the roads. Whether the condition is due to the weather or the work they do not say. We think both should have credit and give a little more to the workers than the weather. There has been some good work done.

Just think of Cloverport being the great dumping point for all that vast coal field traversed by the new Madisonville road.

Gov. Willson has appointed Col. E. C. Robertson city Judge of Glendale. That good town is to be congratulated.

Our heartfelt sympathy goes out to Andrew Driskell in his great affliction. Sorrows have not come singly to him.

It is generally conceded by those who have examined that the fruit crop is not hurt.

Better put in a big crop of corn along with a small crop of tobacco.

The tariff—well the Senate will fix it all right.

Corn at 80 cents is not bad for the farmer.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure. In all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces, of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Wind! wind! WIND!

Sunday School is progressing nicely.

Rev. J. S. J. Brear filled his regular appointment here and at Norton Valley Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Carter spent Saturday and Sunday with Mr. John Carter.

Miss Alma Hardin of Lodiburg, spent Saturday night with Mrs. Lucy Kurtz, and attended church at Webster.

Mrs. E. J. Beauchamp is on the sick list.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Wright spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wright.

Frank Macey was the guest of Miss Arolee Basham, Sunday.

The Misses Carter of Whitesville, Davies county, returned home Saturday accompanied by Alton and Miss Estelle Carter, after a visit to their sister, Mrs. Jesse Carter.

Mrs. Mary S. Rush spent the past week with her sister, Mrs. Dick Avitt, and was at the bedside of her aunt, Mrs. Mary Shelman, at the time of her death.

Menu of an African Hunting Party.

In addition to the groceries and canned provisions carried in their outfit the hunters in East Africa depend for fresh provisions on their guns. Water buck, zebra and elephant are said to be tough eating and are mostly taken by the native porters, who keep elephant meat till it is quite high and gamey. Elend tastes like the best American beef, oxen, lambs and all game are edible and tender, but the delicacies of the East African Protectorate are the kilspringer and the dikdik gazelles. Harbuck is hard except the prime cut along the backbone. An ordinary meal on safari consists of narrow soup, dikdik cutlets, roast guinea fowl, curried venison and corn-flower pudding, with jam, washed down with tea or coffee—London Letter.

HAY BARN WRECKED.

The high wind of last week blew down a hay barn for Dennis Sheeran & Bro., a barn for G. A. Wright; blew the roof off the new store house at McQuady, and did much damage to other barns fencing, out houses and timber in that section.

WEBSTER.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Crutcher went to West Point Monday.

Cliff Haddock was in Irvington Monday.

This is the town for big cattle, fine cattle and cattle that bring the top prices in any market.

Thomas McGavock has planted 25 acres of corn just a little ahead of all his neighbors.

Harry Norton is climbing to the top in the stock business. His recent purchase of fine heifers and steers from Geo. Lyddan, and shipped to St. Louis was a stroke of enterprise in the stock business few dealers have ventured to take. It demonstrated one fact that our cattle rank among the best in the Western market and bring top prices.

Cliff Haddock has built a new addition to his store house.

Farmers are all busy plowing and getting ready for corn planting. They say their fields were never in so good condition for cultivation.

BIRTHDAY DINNER.

Little Miss Nellie Franklin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Cashman, of Union Star, was entertained Easter Sunday in honor of her first birthday. Several guests were present and a delightful dinner was served. One candle flickered on the table which was decorated with Easter flowers.

Doctors

say take Cod Liver Oil—they undoubtedly mean Scott's Emulsion.

It would be just as sensible for them to prescribe Quinine in its crude form as to prescribe Cod Liver Oil in its natural state. In the oil is emulsified and made easy to take—easy to digest and easy to be absorbed in to the body—and is the most natural and useful fatty food to feed and nourish the wasted body that is known in medicine today.

Nothing can be found to take its place. If you are run-down you should take it.

Dr. Strother, of Owensboro, was out at big Spring to spend Easter. The Doctor says he is doing well at Owensboro. He is a fine young man and physician and capable of succeeding anywhere.

THE BUSY BEES.

How the Insects Work When They Are Collecting Honey.

Upon the approach of a bee to any flower it flies around the calyx almost always before alighting upon the flower itself. This is a cursory examination, and with its antennae outstretched and quivering it is evidently scenting the honey contained within.

Should this prove a fruitful flower and of the favor required the bee settles on the center of the stamen and, clutching it with its four front legs, steadies itself with its longer outstretched two hindmost ones and withdraws the nectar by its proboscis, vibrating the body assuming a vibratory motion the while.

The bee's proboscis is a most important instrument. It is composed of about forty cartilaginous rings, each of which is fringed with minute hairs, having also a small tuft of hair at its extremity, where it is somewhat serrated. Its movement is like the trunk of an elephant and is susceptible of extension and contraction, bending and twisting in all directions. Thus, by rolling it about, it searches out the calyx, pistil and stamen of every flower and deposits its nectar upon the tongue, whence it passes into the gullet at the base.

The gullet, or first stomach, is the honey bag. No digestion takes place here. In shape it is like an oil flask and when full contains about one grain. It is susceptible of contraction and is so arranged as to enable the insect to discharge its contents into the coils of the liver.—Philadelphia North American.

Hopelessly out of style.

"When we take charge of the government," says the wise old suffragette, "we will make some changes in the naval bureau."

"I should hope so!" agrees the enthusiastic young suffragette. "Why, bureaus are hopelessly out of style! We will have a combination wardrobe and chiffonier!"—Judge.

AFTER SUFFERING ONE YEAR

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Milwaukee, Wis.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has made me a well woman, and I would like to tell the whole world of it. I suffered from female trouble and they all decided that I had a tumor in addition to my female trouble, and advised an operation. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made me a well woman and I have no more backache. I hope I can help others by telling them what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me."—Mrs. EMMA LENSE, 833 First St., Milwaukee, Wis.

The above is only one of the thousands of grateful letters which are constantly being received by the Pinkham Medicine Company of Lynn, Mass., which prove beyond a doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, actually does cure these obstinate diseases of women after all other means have failed, and that every such suffering woman owes it to herself to at least give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial before submitting to an operation, or giving up hope of recovery.

Mrs. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health and her advice is free.

His Success.

"John," said a Glasgow minister to his headle one morning, "I would seem to have been more than usually successful in pleasing the congregation on Sabbath. To which of the three heads of my sermon would you attribute my success?"

"Well, sir," replied the headle, with something like a leer in his eye, "to tell ye the truth, congregation nowadays concern themselves less about the heads than the tails o' sermons. The one you preached on Sabbath was considerably shorter than the general run o' yer discourses, and therefore a body was weel pleased w'il'."

TAYLOR & SUTER

CUSTER, KENTUCKY

CUSTER'S LAST FIGHT BY BUFFALO BILL FROM "TRUE TALES OF THE PLAINS" COPYRIGHT, 1906, BY WILLIAM F. COOY

ANY series of stories of Indian war would be incomplete without giving an account of the campaign of 1876 against the northern Sioux and their allies from the south, the Sioux and Cheyennes, an affair known as the Custer campaign. The catastrophe that overwhelmed the gallant General Custer and his brave command was an episode that will live forever in Indian history.

In the summer of 1874 General Sheridan sent two expeditions into what was known as the northern country. He sent General Custer with the seventh cavalry from Fort Abraham Lincoln to scout in the north and northwest of the Black Hills and to return through the Powder river country to his post. At the same time he sent Colonel Anson Mills from the department of the Platte, leaving the Union Pacific railroad at Rawlins, Wyo., on an expedition to scout the Sweetwater country, the Big Horn basin and Big Horn mountain country and to return by way of the Powder river country back to his department. I was sent to guide Colonel Anson Mills' expedition. The two commands, one under Custer and one under Mills, came within communicating distance in eastern Wyoming, on the Powder river, the two commanding officers and scouts meeting and holding a consultation. This country was then comparatively unknown, except to the scouts, hunters and trappers.

Mills marched from Rawlins to Independence Rock, on the Sweetwater river, where he made a supply camp and left his wagons. General Custer continued on through the Black Hills, exploring it in every hole and corner, and then returned to Fort Abraham Lincoln. This meeting of the two commanders was the last time I ever saw the general. It was on Custer's expedition through the Black Hills that the old timers' assertions of its wealth in gold were confirmed and practically demonstrated. Therefore, although the government's intention was to keep out invaders of this section (many of the frontiersmen were of the military, the efforts were a failure, for the rush became so great as to render it impracticable to arrest it. This brought about irritation on the part of the Indians. During '75 and '76 the whole Dakota nation, the most powerful Indians and their allies, listened to the harangues of Sitting Bull and other medicine men to prepare to go on the warpath, to gather their best horses and secure all the ammunition and long range rifles they could.

General Sheridan, in view of the situation and the gathering of war in the northwest, commenced massing the United States troops in sonages closely connected with the powers existing. The investigation coming on, Custer was ordered by Washington to give testimony. This testimony adhered so strictly to the truth that it brought him into disfavor, and when he returned to his post he found that the command of the main expedition was taken from him and that he was assigned to his own regiment simply, while General Terry was ordered to take supreme command. To a soldier with his record, to a man of his sensitiveness, this humiliation was deeply felt, and no doubt, was one of the many causes that warped his judgment at a time when it was most needed. General Terry showed his sympathy and confidence in him after the Indian trail was discovered, when he ordered him to take his regiment, with ten days' rations, ammunition and privies scouts, along with Charlie Reynolds, Bloody Knife and others, and take the trail and follow it. He struck the trail and followed it at a rapid pace on the 23d and 24th of July. At this point the trail left the Rosebud and headed toward the Little Big Horn. As the march had been very rapid, the horses were tired and camp was made, while preparations to start by 2 o'clock in the morning to cross the divide which separated the two streams was determined on.

At 2 o'clock the regiment was again on the move, with the scouts ahead, by daylight they had crossed the divide. The command was keeping in the ravine or canyon out of sight and moving as quietly as possible. The scouts in advance came back and reported to General Custer that they had seen tepees or Indian lodges, which was true; but, as it afterward turned out, the tepees which the scouts had seen were those of four villages that had been put up for smullop patients away from the main Indian village.

General Custer divided his command into three parts, taking five companies himself, Major Reno with five companies and Colonel Benteen with two companies in the rear, making a detour of some seven or eight miles and striking the Little Big Horn at what he supposed would be the lower end of the river, while Reno was to strike it from the upper end. Custer was to work up the river and Reno down, while Reno was to keep on cutting down the river until he joined Custer, and Benteen was to follow up with the pack train.

As near as we know, Reno struck the Indians a little before Custer did, and of course, he, as well as Custer, was surprised at the immense size of the village. There were ten times more Indians in this village than had been indicated by the Indian trail which they had been following up the Rosebud. It is a fact that the Indians when they were following had just at that point and at this time joined the main band of Indians in camp on the Little Big Horn. The principal chiefs among the Indians, of course, were Sitting Bull, Gall, Crazy Horse, Rain-in-the-Face, Little Big Man, Grass and many others. At first the Indians were taken completely by surprise, for they were so numerous that they had failed to keep scouts out at the usual distance, and Reno's attack was the first that they saw of the soldiers. Reno, instead of charging, held back when he saw the immense numbers in front—his heart indented, failed him, and abandoning audacity, which is the life of a cavalryman, though he failed to recognize it at this time, he dismounted to fight on foot. In his first charge he was repulsed, and, as near as I have been able to learn, it was only a weak one, not on account of his officers or men, but it was the lack of faith and confidence in himself that took away the vim and dash that the charge should have had.

Reno, in looking over the situation, preferred defense in preference to attack. He recrossed the Little Big Horn and took up a position on a hill where he felt daunted around until the Indians, taking courage at his apparent weakness, made the fight of him all the fiercer. Most of the men that he lost were lost while crossing the Little Big Horn in retreat, so as to get into the bluffs on the east side.

Major Reno, although having a good civil war record, through his indecision in the emergency on this occasion seemed to have completely lost soldierly intelligence. The Indians, as was afterward learned, were completely taken by surprise, and the great war chief, Gall, personally directed the attack on Reno and was making preparations to surround him on the hill, evidently unaware of Custer's proximity on the other side of the village. This shows what could have been done had Reno charged onward and kept this greatest of the war chiefs off his feet instead of this permitting him to leave a few men to threaten Reno, while he concentrated his warriors on the other side of the village against Custer. A messenger to Benteen from Custer, ordering him to "come on quick and bring the pack," had caused that gallant officer to hasten, but, overtaking Reno, who outranked him, he was ordered to join his demoralized forces and was compelled to obey. The latter thought that the two commands combined, which numbered 400 men, would soon take measures to get information. But the appeals of such of leaders as Benteen, Weir, French and others to lead on were without avail. The last seen of Custer as he started into the ever to be remembered battle of the Little Big Horn was when he went over the ridge and was last seen in salute to the other commands. Custer, making a wide detour to fall on the rear of the village, or what he thought was the rear, immediately struck a very strong band of Indians led by Chief Gall.

They had crossed the river at a point where they were concealed by a large ravine and got on Custer's flank, and so astute had been Chief Gall's arrangements that he found himself attacked in front and on all sides. Custer's first charge was successful until he saw the immensity of the village. He saw that it was a city instead of a village. There being a high hill a half mile back from the Little Big Horn, Custer decided to take this as a stand-point. He sounded the recall and tried to make this hill. He had to turn back while doing so. The Indians are never so brave as when they get any one's back to them. On their retreat the half of his men were killed. The rest took up positions, but the Indians, being so elated at killing so many of his men from the Little Big Horn up to the hill, made the failure of Custer to attract the Indians continually coming down the Little Big Horn, almost all the fighting Indians concentrated on Custer and fought him to death.

Fighting desperately to gain a point higher up, no doubt, he was, however, compelled to dismount, and, unable to advance or retreat and probably unwilling to do so, he must have been his own destruction. In this dire straits the commands would make. Steadfastly believing this from later Indian accounts, they fought courageously, hoping and expecting for reinforcements, which never came, but succeeded in keeping up the fight for some time. The Indians, well armed and in overwhelming numbers, circling and riding at speed, kept up a continuous and effective fire, while skirmishers and marksmen crawled through the grass, picking off officers, and some of the men were still lying on the hill, although they could hear the reports of firearms below, and notwithstanding that Benteen, Weir, French and others continued their appeals and that the echoing valleys cried for assistance he remained there until all was silent, the Indians eventually killing Custer and every one of his gallant band. Reno was kept annoyed by the savages until the arrival of General Terry and Gibbon's command, while on the second day the Indians set fire to the grasses to cover their movements with smoke and drew off. Afterward a visit to the battle scene told the story of Custer's last battle, showing that every one had at least done his duty and, though defeated, was not disgraced. They all died in the proper military manner, every officer at his post and every man in line. Custer's body was found, and, although all the others were mutilated or scalped, his body seemed to have been untouched except by his death wounds, this being a tribute from the savages for his courage and gallantry. His brother, Captain Tom, and his brother-in-law, Captain Calhoun, with a nephew, were among the slain, making an unusual family affliction. The bodies of all the officers were found, with the exception of Dr. Lord, Lieutenants Porter, Harrington and Sturges and some ten men. The latter's fate has never been known, whether they were captured and thrown into the quicksands near the bed of the Little Big Horn, if so clear, the only certainty being that they were dead. Two hundred and twelve bodies were buried on the hill, the losses to the regiment being in two days 265 killed and 12 wounded, 50 per cent of the command!

WORK THAT TELLS.

The Kind Cloverport Readers Appreciate.

Cures that last are cures that tell. To thoroughly know the virtues of a medicine you must investigate the cures and see if they prove permanent. Doan's Kidney Pills stand this test, and plenty of proof exists right here in this locality. People who testified years ago to relief from backache, kidney and urinary disorders, now declare that relief was permanent and the cure perfect. Can any Cloverport suffer longer doubt the evidence?

J. E. Linton, Main & Cross Sts., Elizabethtown, Ky., says: "For some time I had trouble with my kidneys. The pain in the small of my back was constant but came on by attacks, some of which were very severe. At such times the misery extended into my shoulders and made it very difficult for me to stoop or straighten. My kidneys were also disordered and the secretions became highly colored and often scalded in passage. I finally read of Doan's Kidney Pills and procured a box. I used them as directed and received a complete cure." (From statement given April 8, 1903.)

CURED TO STAY CURED.

On June 13, 1907, Mr. Linton confirmed the above statement saying: "During the four years which have elapsed since Doan's Kidney Pills cured me I have not had any symptoms of kidney trouble. I take pleasure in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills at every opportunity and gladly confirm all I said regarding them in my previous statement."

High Art.
"Are you blind, prisoner?" inquired the magistrate.
"Yes, your worship."
"For what charges from vagrancy. How did you lose your sight?"
"By a fit of apoplexy, sir."
"But there is a picture on your breast representing an explosion in mine, through which, it is stated, you became blind! How is this?"
"Please, your worship, I couldn't afford to pay a harrist as could paint apoplexy!"—London Answers.

A Baby Show in Cloverport would have many contestants; but it's safe to say that the healthiest baby would win the prize. No baby can be healthier than a baby born of a mother who takes Doan's Kidney Pills. Mothers, don't attempt to raise children without White's Cream Vermifuge. Price 25 cents. Sold by A. R. Fisher.

An Amendment.

"I'm a terror, I be," announced the new arrival in Frozen Dog to one of the men behind the bar.
"Takes three men to handle me once I get started," he went on.
"Oh, well," he remarked, as he rose and moved toward the bar, "I have been so carefully and dusted off my clothes 'of course if you're short-handed I suppose two kin do it on a pinch.'—Every body's."

'D Rather Die, Doctor.

than have my feet cut off," said M. L. Bingham, of Princeton, Ill., "but you'll die from gangrene which had eaten away eight of his toes) if you don't," said a doctor. "Instead," he used Bucklen's Arnica Salve till wholly cured. Its cures of Eczema, Fever Sores, Boils, Burns and Piles astound the world. 25 cents at Severs Drug store.

The Japanese Baby.

The first name is given to him with great ceremony when he is a month old. At fifteen he is considered grown up, assumes the responsibility of a man and takes a new name. Entering upon public duties he takes another name, which is changed with every step in his life. If his superior officer has the same name he happens to have at that time he must change it again. He must also change it when he marries, and when he dies it is changed for the last time and inscribed upon his tomb.

PROF. DRISKEL'S SON DEAD.

Reed, the eldest of Prof. Driskel's children, died Friday, April 9, after a severe illness of three days, though for a month he had been ailing and felt the approaching crisis. Reed was fourteen years of age on the eleventh of November. His death follows closely after that of his mother, who died on January 30th. Reed Driskel was a good boy, obedient, bright and was well liked. He was faithful in his work, in school and out, and as a Sunday school pupil he had a good record. He knew that his life was short and he feared not to go. The funeral was at Ephesus church, near Harard, at ten o'clock Saturday morning, the funeral services being conducted by the Rev. Cline. Mr. Driskel and his other five orphan children, four boys and one girl, one being an infant born just before the mother's death in January, have the sympathy of the entire community.

The Harard Normal was moved to Hardinsburg Monday, with Mr. Arthur Ater, one of the best and most successful teachers, in charge for the time. Mr. Driskel will resume his duties after a short time if his health will permit.

The Board of Education has united the County High school with the Public school here and both will be taught in the Public school building this year. The principal has not yet been secured, but active negotiations are being conducted toward that end. Supt.
